

Having toured the United States on a one-nighter tour as a Stage Manager, it is imperative that our drivers who sleep during the day - and drive us at night - have as much information as possible. XM Radio provides just that for them - and does so in a more informative and helpful manner than certain local radio stations. To do anything to keep information from being passed along in a timely and well-thought manner is a poor choice.